Tells of Union's Death Threat

Take it from Here

NEWSROOM NOTES — It takes a certain amount of intestinal fortitude to write about dogs, especially stupid dogs like the one I'm going to write about.

A writer can blast politics, expose the local PTA head as being unalterably opposed to education or report seeing a prominent WCTU member in a saloon and never get a response.

But just write something about dogs, and half the population is on your back. Whether the writing is pro or anti-dog, roughly (and I mean roughly) half the good folks are on the other side, and vocally, too.

Be that as it may, I am going to show no sense whatever, and tell you about Wolf, as stupid and cowardly a mutt as you could ever hope to lay eyes on.

Wolf was a tame Alaskan Husky. He was raised as a pet, rather than as one of the snarling, mean sled dogs. Wolf did have the Husky temperament, but only because he could get away with it. Eventually, he was found out.

I met Wolf several summers ago when I went to Alaska to work on a road survey crew during summer vacation from college. He was not the tail-wagging, friendly pup I was accustomed to. He was more like a cat in temperament — deigning to permit us to serve him his food (if it met with his approval) and minister to his needs.

He did have one trait of all dogs. He was curious. He would go nosing through the woods, bravely chasing birds and small animals. This turned out to be a mistake.

The population of the woods numbered quite a few porcupines. Porcupines are ridiculously slow on their feet. Since the bristly animals were much smaller than Wolf, and much slower, the courageous critter naturally caught one eventually.

Wolf never made much noise, so it was a while after he slunk into camp that we noticed him. He looked quite sheepish, and utterly fantastic, with a snout full of porcupine quills.

Someone got a pair of pliers, and managed to pull one quill before Wolf yelped in pain and fled. Thereafter, we had to resort to subterfuge and trickery to catch him and remove another one or two.

Wolf did have a measure of intelligence, in that it didn't take him long to learn the pliers meant pain. Just pick up a pair of pliers, and he was long gone. However, he wasn't smart enough to stay away from porcupines. They were to him like catnip to a cat.

He continued bravely to frighten small animals and birds, and sometimes he did not have porcupine quills in his nose.

On one of these occasions, he was riding in the rear of a dump truck with several of us when a mother bear and two small cubs ran into the road ahead of us. She took one look at us and started running down the road. There was a flurry of fur in the truck, and Wolf disappeared over the tail gate, moving with great velocity in the opposite direction. We didn't see him for several days.

Eventually we captured a pair of cubs, and Wolf returned to camp. The cubs were playful, and we spent considerable of our off time enjoying them. This disturbed Wolf, and he finally swallowed his pride.

First he begged for attention. We decided our chance had come to put him in his place, and snubbed him good. Then he thought he'd do away with the cubs. After all, they were smaller than he was.

He approached the cubs menacingly, growling. Unimpressed, one of the little fellows swatted him across the nose with a strong forepaw, and Wolf retreated, obviously a broken dog.

The last time I saw this brave, intelligent animal, it was apparent he had gone back to chasing, and catching, porcupines.

FOILS TROOPERS AT CENTRAL HIGH—Jim Elsman Jr., 21-year-old University of Michigan senior, points to Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., Thursday, as he tells newsmen how he got past troopers with a borrowed library card and took a photograph of a Negro student inside the newly-integrated school. He said he took a picture of Jefferson Thomas in a geography class and was taken to the principal's office where two troopers escorted him outside. He sold the picture to a national magazine, he said. (AP Wirephoto)

Arrest Riveter For Kidnaping

Boy Victim Safe; Tells Police License Number

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—A young airplane riveter who said he was desperate for money was arrested with his wife Thursday night in the kidnap-for-ransom of Lee Crary seven hours after the 8-year-old youngster was returned unharmed to his home.

The boy, who vanished Monday, was found Thursday walking along a road near Lake Stevens, seven miles northeast of here, some 24 hours after his parents had received a ransom note demanding $10,000. The money had not been paid.

Picked up at 7:20 p.m. by FBI agents and deputies of Snohomish County Sheriff Bob Twitchell were George Edward Collins Jr., 20, and his wife Katherine, 21.

They were surprised by the lawmen at the Everett home of Collins' father and quickly booked at the Everett jail. Four hours later Collins signed a 13-page statement admitting the abduction and implicating his wife.

Collins, an apprentice riveter at Boeing Airplane Co. in Seattle, was booked for investigation of kidnaping; his hysterically sobbing wife as an accessory to the crime. The Collins have a 6-month-old child.

The sheriff said later that the arrest was based on a number of things, particularly on a license number furnished by the youngster. It turned out to be exact and so was a description of Collins given by young Crary.

Good Memory

"He is a really remarkable boy with a tremendous memory," the sheriff said.

The couple will be charged under Washington statutes which carry punishment up to death if the victim suffers bodily harm.

Collins' rambling account of the abduction late Monday afternoon — almost identical in detail to the story told by the boy — said it was a spur-of-the-moment act. He said he had once worked on the Lynndale school at Edmonds, where the Crary's live, and had gone back there to inspect the job

Act to Ready Vaccine for Predicted Flu Outbreaks

CHICAGO (AP) — The State Department of Public Health, preparing for a predicted outbreak of Asian flu in Illinois, has moved to improve distribution and inoculation procedure for flu vaccine.

An Asian flu advisory committee to the department Thursday night recommended a priority list of persons to receive the shots and appealed to manufacturers of vaccine to sell to retail druggists instead of industry and non-priority groups.

It also suggested doctors inject smaller doses of the vaccine to stretch the supply.

First-Come Basis

Dr. Norman Rose, chairman of the committee, said manufacturers have been filling orders on a "first come, first serve" basis. This has created "terrific problems" in Illinois, he said, because doctors are unable to obtain vaccine.

It has gone instead, he continued, to industry and non-essential groups.

The committee said medical personnel should be inoculated first, followed by pregnant women, infants, persons with chronic heart and lung diseases, firemen, policemen, communication and public utility workers and persons over 50.

Priority

Dr. Rose said the Illinois Pharmeutical Assn., representing Illinois druggists, already has agreed to sell vaccine on a priority basis.

He said an unidentified Bloomington, Ill., industry offered to turn over to the McLean County Health Department 1,000 centimeters of serum it had received.

"It would be nice if other industries followed suit," he said.

Sufficiency

"There will be sufficient vaccine to meet our needs," Dr. Rose added, "if the committee's recommendations on the dose and mode of administration is followed."

The committee suggested that doctors inject two doses of one-tenth centimeters of vaccine into the skin rather than 1 centimeter beneath the skin.

This would increase by five times the available vaccine, Dr. Rose said.

5.5 Percent

The state had received 201,000 centimeters of vaccine as of Sept. 20, Dr. Rose reported. This represents 5.5 per cent of the vaccine manufactured. The vaccine is distributed to states according to per-

Faubus Bitter in Talk But Urges Calmness and Order

Says State Has Only 1 Choice Now

Applies Label of 'Police State' to U. S. Troop Actions

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus told Arkansas Thursday night they have no choice concerning integration in the face of what he called "unsheathed bayonets" and "police state methods" in the Little Rock racial struggle. He urged them to be calm.

But immediately after the talk, a former Arkansas governor, Sid McMath, and an NAACP field secretary, Clarence A. Laws, declared Faubus' words were not conciliatory, but instead were inflammatory.

In the sometimes bitter speech, Faubus attacked use of federal force to integrate Central High School, then advised his listeners: "Let us go about our normal pursuits in a friendly, peaceful manner, obeying all laws and orders, including those of Gen. Walker and his troops."

Commander

This referred to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, placed in command of paratroop units flown to Little Rock Tuesday to enforce federal court integration orders at the 2,000-student school.

An army spokesman said Walker would have no comment.

Before the speech, the White House said President Eisenhower would have no immediate statement about it.

Sorrowful

The governor's tone was sorrowful as he reviewed the events of the past four weeks and advised citizens to remain calm.

But his voice occasionally rang with emotion as he attacked persons he blamed for the presence of federal troops in Little Rock.

Intermittent racial violence has occurred at the high school since it opened for the fall term Sept. 2.

Bayonets

Faubus in his nationally televised and broadcast speech declared: "We are now an occupied territory. Evidence of the naked force of the federal government is here apparent in these unsheathed bayonets in the back of schoolgirls . . . in the bloody face of this railroad worker who was bayoneted and then felled by the butt of a rifle."

Misinformation

The governor apparently had incorrect information on this action, occurring Wednesday. One man was knocked down by a rifle butt when he sought to take the weap-

FOUND SAFE — Lee Crary, 8, above, kidnap victim, was found by a motorist at noon Thursday walking down a road about 30 miles from his home in Edmonds, Wash. He had been the object of an intensive search since his disappearance Monday. A young couple have been arrested and charged with the kidnaping.

PRESIDENT LOOKS THROUGH PERISCOPE—President Eisenhower exclaims at the marvelous view through the periscope of the USS Sea Wolf during an under-water ride near Newport, R.I., Thursday. The Sea Wolf, second of the U.S. Navy's atomic powered submarines, cruised at a depth of 60 feet. (AP Wirephoto)

Win First Move To Quash Hoffa

Union Committee Drops Post Intended for Beck

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of James R. Hoffa and other present top men in the Teamsters Union won a preliminary skirmish today in their federal court battle to block election of new officers at next week's teamsters convention.

Asking for an injunction, a group of New York teamsters members contends that delegates to the union session about to open in Miami Beach, Fla., have been illegally selected to rig the election in favor of Hoffa.

Hoffa, Midwest hopes of the teamsters and a chief target of corruption charges by the Senate committee investigating labor-management rackets, is the odds-on candidate to succeed Dave Beck, retiring from the union presidency in the wake of Senate committee disclosures about his own affairs.

Overruled

U.S. Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts overruled a motion by union attorneys to quash the New Yorkers' case.

The judge also granted the petition for the temporary injunction and thereby blocked the election. In addition he quashed a general motion to dismiss the petition made on grounds that the place to make the attack on delegates' qualifications was inside the Teamsters Union.

The union lawyers complained that serving documents in the suit on James Casey, an assistant to union Secretary Treasurer John F. English, was improper notice and lack of legal service.

At Miami Beach, Fla., Hoffa said he never had favored giving retiring teamster President Dave Beck the position of president-emeritus of the giant transportation union.

Reported Sponsor

Hoffa, a union vice president, had been reported a sponsor of the move to give the retiring president the emeritus post.

"I have never been in favor of it," Hoffa said today. "But I thought it was a decision that Dave himself should make. After all, a man who has been in organized labor for 35 years ought to make the decision as to his own destiny."

Some quarters interpreted denial of the emeritus post to Beck as a move to strip him of union influence once he retires.

Honorary Post

However, Vice President William A. Lee of Chicago who opposed emeritus status for Beck said the position would have been honorary only and would have given the retiring president no power behind the scenes.

The union's constitution commit-

Fear Press Executive Kidnaped

Crusaded Against Pinball Machines, Gambling in Joliet

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—A woman executive of a weekly newspaper who crusaded against pinball machines and gambling was hunted today by police who expressed belief she may have been kidnaped.

Police started their search Thursday for Miss Amelia J. Zelko, business manager and secretary-treasurer of the Weekly Joliet Spectator, after she was reported missing. Managing Editor Burke Meade told police Miss Zelko, who is in her 40s, had not been seen since leaving the newspaper office late Wednesday night.

She drove to her apartment, a few blocks from the newspaper office, Meade told police, shortly before midnight. Neighbors told police they heard screams from her apartment about midnight but believed the noise was made by teen-agers.

Find Shoe

Police said one of her shoes was found on the roof of her car parked in front of the apartment. Another shoe was found on the lawn.

Miss Zelko failed to appear at work Thursday to put final approval on this week's edition. Meade said the paper had not been printed without her approval in several years.

Co-workers said when she left the office Wednesday she said, "So long everyone, I'll see you tomorrow."

Beat by Thug

Syndicated gambling operations and pinball machines had been hit by numerous Spectator articles, Meade said, and in 1948 the paper's chief stockholder was beaten by a thug.

The stockholder, William R. McCabe, was taken from his home, beaten and dumped on a country road. McCabe, former Will County, state's attorney, suffered broken arms and legs and was hospitalized for a year.

McCabe blamed the attack on a gang war for control of Will County gambling and juke box installation.

The Joliet City Council has approved an ordinance banning pinball machines next Jan. 1. The newspaper's crusade in recent months had cooled off, apparently from a belief it had won its fight.

Recall Ike's '52 Campaign Speech in Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told a 1952 campaign audience in Little Rock that unless group problems are approached in a spirit of cooperation a creeping tide of central law will result in an all-powerful state.

Eisenhower chose Little Rock—where federal troops now are enforcing the Supreme Court's anti-segregation decision—for one of his earliest references to the civil rights issue in his first campaign for the White House.

Speaking in the Arkansas capital Sept. 3, 1953, Eisenhower said the founding fathers made no mention of the color of a man's skin. He noted, too, the concept in the Declaration of Independence of the equality of man.

Silent Audience

News dispatches from Little Rock that night said Eisenhower's audience "sat silent" during the reference to civil rights.

Later in his speech Eisenhower reverted to his attacks on what he called the "mess in Washington" and there were yells from the crowd: "Pour it on, Ike."

At one point Eisenhower noted the Supreme Court had struck down President Truman's seizure of the steel mills to avert a strike and said:

"Thank goodness for the Supreme Court."

2 Years Later

It was almost two years later, in May, 1954, that the court outlawed racial segregation in public schools.

In Washington FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas indulged in a falsehood in accusing the FBI of holding teenagers in Little Rock incommunicado for hours of questioning.

The governor, in a television address to the nation Thursday night, said "teen-aged girls have been taken by the FBI and held incommunicado for hours of questioning while their frantic parents knew nothing of their whereabouts."

None Held

Hoover said "No teen ager or

Racketeers Hound Wife On Phone

Refused to Help Hoffa's Brother Get Into Racket

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former official of a Teamsters Union local in Michigan testified today he once was threatened with death because he refused to help a brother of James R. Hoffa in "getting in the rackets."

He was Robert Scott, a former secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Federation of Labor.

Scott told the Senate Rackets Committee also that he was once advised by Owen (Bert) Brennan, an associate of Hoffa and president of Teamsters Local 337 in Detroit, that he "had better have his insurance paid up."

Gambling Joint

Scott said Brennan made the comment at a time when Brennan was trying to persuade him to "put a fix in" for a gambling joint in Oakland County, Mich.

Scott, now a member of the Michigan State Board of Barber Examiners, was called to the stand as the committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) pressed its investigation into the affairs of Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union and leading contender to succeed Dave Beck as union president.

The teamsters have scheduled an election at their convention opening next week in Miami Beach, Fla. The plan is being challenged in the courts, however.

Hounded Wife

Scott told the senators he believes Teamsters Union officials hounded his wife to her death in 1946 with telephone calls threatening his life. And he said he received anonymous telephone calls last week telling him not to testify. Asked by McClellan if he though violence might be attempted, Scott replied: "They might try it."

He said he decided to testify anyway because he thinks Hoffa is not "a good influence for the labor movement."

Scott said one threat of death came when he refused to come to the aid of William Hoffa, brother of James Hoffa who now is business agent for Teamsters Local 614 at Pontiac, Mich.

Interfered

Without giving a date or going into detail, Scott said he was "told by a fellow in a Detroit hotel that Billy Hoffa wanted to bump me off because I interfered with him getting into the rackets."

As for the incident with Brennan, Scott said he had been called into Brennan's office and asked "to put the fix in with the Oakland County prosecutor so some of the boys could run a gambling joint."

Scott said he did not do so—"I told them I couldn't fix it and they said I could."

Bad Boys

Later, he said, "Bert Brennan called to ask if my insurance was paid up. I asked what that had to do with him and he said he had a couple of boys in the office that wanted to run and they were bad boys and I had better have my insurance paid up."

He said the gambling joint subsequently opened up and operated for a little more than 30 days.

Scott linked Hoffa's name with conniving in which, he said, a group of officials rigged a 1948 election by declaring all members of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614

Attend the Church of Your Faith Regularly

TOGETHER

Every experience means more when it is shared. When father, mother and children go to church together they are sharing a beautiful experience. When they sing the songs of the gospel, read the Scripture, listen to the sermon, unite in prayer, they are adding to the joy of being together. When they open their hearts to God and pledge allegiance to Him, family life is strengthened. The "togetherness" reaches out to include fellowship with others.

Young people who grow up in the Church, who have a truly Christian home, are blessed with a tremendous advantage. They have learned to work and live with other people for the glory of God and the advancement of His cause. There is strength in the very thought of uniting in work and worship.

Together—what a difference it makes! Does your family go to Church together?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Head for Bed!

NEW YORK (AP)—If the Asian flu bug bits you, the best treatment is four steps:

Go to bed, at home.
Consult your doctor.
Take plenty of fluids.

Use aspirin or other fever-fighting drugs.

This is the advice from a special committee on influenza of the American Medical Assn.

Antibiotics and sulfa drugs don't do anything against the flu virus. Your doctor may use them if you get complications — infections by bacteria following along when flu has put you in a weakened condition.

Don't try to go to a hospital, the committee adds. Isolating yourself at home makes it less likely you'll spread the disease. In hospitals, you might be exposed to bacterial infections of other people.

Stay Out of the Way

All of us have seen pictures of the large crowds that so often gather at the scene of major disasters, whether the catastrophe be a train wreck, a flood, a tornado or a huge explosion of some sort.

Obviously many who cluster about the scene are there because they're worried over the fate of friends or relatives. Others are motivated by a desire to be of help. But large numbers are simply curious.

A committee on disaster studies, named by the National Academy of Sciences and the National Research Council, now has concluded that, whatever their reasons, the people who assemble at disaster sites are a serious hindrance to those who labor to serve the victims and bring the disaster under control.

In plain words, the best thing you can do when tragedy strikes is to stay home—out of the way of police, Red Cross, hospital workers, and officially enlisted helpers.

The committee cited as a typical example the case of a tornado that struck White County, Ark., in 1952. It reports that for 10 miles on either side of the town of Judsonia, cars were lined bumper to bumper. Four-fifths of the available state police force was used simply to unsnarl the traffic.

A tornado that hit Waco, Tex., the following year attracted so many planes over the site that the committee says they were "buzzing over the ruins like buzzards."

On top of all this, the investigators found that more often than not the police and other local authorities are not really prepared to cope with disasters. Evidently there is much serious educational work still to be done in this field by civil defense officials, Red Cross and others who make disasters a specialty.

Today in Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: No one is going to corner smart pizza sweetie-pie Sophia Loren into admitting she's becoming a Yankee Doodle Dandy girl. Even if a national magazine did print a series of photos depicting "The Americanization of Sophia Loren."

Hot dogs and soda pop, literally and mentally, won't be replacing pizza and wine for the belle from Naples, she told me, because:

"If I become Americanized there is no use for me to be here. If I start thinking and acting like all actresses in Hollywood, then I am no longer what I am."

The photos for the magazine, she winced, just didn't add up to "Americanization," and no one, she added, will have a chance to make a big Yankee thing out of the fact that she does a red-hot jitterbug dance in her latest movie, "Houseboat." Well, they may try, but she assured me:

"I was born a jitterbug. Italy has jitterbugs, too."

A foreign import not going crazy over hot fudge sundaes, ham and eggs and the Brooklyn Dodgers is something new for Hollywood. But I'm keeping my fingers crossed just in case Sophia, in the privacy of her rented Beverly Hills home, is roasting hot dogs in the living room fireplace and washing them down with soda pop when no one is looking. The quality of U.S. made pizza, she whispered, "Is not so good."

THE WITNET: While on location in Washington, D.C., movie writer-producer Jack Rose went to a restaurant for dinner one night. After what seemed like hours, the food finally arrived.

When it did, Jack told the waiter: "It's too bad Lincoln didn't eat here. He never would have made it to the theater."

Not in the Script: Jack Carson, remembering his first movies: "I was typed as an idiot but all I made was money."

Gary Cooper must be changing his mind about the "Love in the Afternoon" stuff with cuties half his age. He's said to be rather anxious to play Debbie Reynolds' father in "The Boy Friend." . . . Piper Laurie's career is due for another zoom with the release of "Until They Sail," in which she plays a love-starved war wife.

HERB SHRINER, Julius LaRosa and the DeCastro Sisters headline this year's personal appearance tour for a Lubbock, Tex., supermarket. They'll play 40 performances in 17 days in Texas, Colorado and New Mexico. Last year Mamie Van Doren and Mickey Rooney teamed up for the same grocery store circuit.

Shine on harvest moonshiners. The still big business of secret still corn-likker brewing south of the Mason-Dixon line is the plot of Bob Mitchum's first independent movie, "Thunder Road." Bob plays a backwoods brewer who fights it out with U.S. revenooers headed by Gene Barry.

Gene was the star of Paramount's ill-fated "Red Garters" a couple years back but his continued career success despite the film's flop proved his longtime theory:

"Only a bad performance, not a bad picture, can hurt an actor."

HOLLYWOOD ON TV: Jack Benny is tiring of those laugh sketches on "Shower of Stars" and writers of the show have his word for it that he wants to become more of a host than a performer on the program. . . . "Trader Horn" is being whipped up as a telefilm show idea. Seeing the one time famed movie of the same title on home screens, though, was a shocker. To be frank about it, it was awful by today's standards. But in its time, 1931, it was the year's greatest box office hit.

THE BEST SHORT STORIES OF WORLD WAR II: An American Anthology. Edited by Charles A. Fenton. Viking.

From Stephen Vincent Benet to William Styron, from the first rumbling of the great war to its aftermath—this collection contains the names of 20 authors and includes some of our best writing in the last 15 years.

My favorites are Frank Yerby's "Health Card," Robert McLaughlin's "A Short Wait Between Trains," Ralph Ellison's "Flying Home," Irwin Shaw's "Act of Faith," and Norman Mailer's "The Paper House," all concerned with that unthinking, blind pigeonholing and categorizing of people that we call race prejudice; and also three others, Faulkner's "Two Soldiers," Robert Lowry's "Layover in El Paso" and Edward Newhouse's "The Four Freedoms."

That accounts for eight. I don't understand how three others rate invitations to this party: James Jones, Thomas Hegen and John Horne Burns are all represented by chapters cut out of long or very long novels. Lawrence Critchell is tepid, Benet too pat, Josephine W. Johnson's idea of flying without wings is second-hand.

Even so I do not on the whole question the anthologist's choices, for these may well be the 20, or 17, best written about the war. Fenton is an enthusiast, in contrast with some anthologists who merely want to paste up another volume. While Hemingway, about whom Fenton wrote his first book, gets the credit as model for many of his successors, Fenton sings his fervid praises of the first-rate talent of the younger generation. His stanuch championship of this group is perhaps more significant than his collection of their sometimes inconclusive short-story testimonials.

Ruth Millett:

McCall's magazine for September has an article that could revolutionize luncheon and dinner party conversation.

The article tells how to diet in secret. Yep, in secret. It gives tips on how a dieter can sit down with her family or friends and keep to a diet without anyone's being the wiser.

The method is simple. You take a little of everything that is offered you, eat your small portions and don't go back for seconds.

If you keep your mouth shut, no one is the wiser that you are carefully counting calories.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the idea of dieting in secret would catch on? Then those who aren't on a diet could go back to enjoying their food without being reminded of the number of calories in sour cream dressing or a slice of apple pie.

NO FUN IF IT'S SECRET

But secret dieting, I am afraid, isn't going to appeal to most dieters. If they had to diet without talking about it most of them would probably give up in despair.

For one thing, women who have been on-again, off-again dieters for years find calorie talk an easy form of dinner table conversation.

Then, too, since dieting is a form of self-punishment the only joy connected with it is in letting everyone know how much you are suffering.

And there's always the temptation for a woman who has kept her figure fashionably thin to call attention to it whenever she turns down a hot roll or second serving.

Haven't you noticed that the women who talk the most about dieting are skinny women? They do the most talking about calories when there is at least one plump person present.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

It has been estimated by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness that about nine million of the United States' 36 million school children need some form of eye care. Some who need this care and do not receive it may become blind. Others are likely to go through life with serious handicaps in education and psychology, as a result.

The responsibility for obtaining eye care for children who need it rests first with the parents. Youngsters often do not know that they have eye trouble. Even if they do, they are unlikely to talk about it. Impaired vision can cause discomfort and maladjustment in school. It is sometimes followed by truancy and delinquency.

According to one New York educator, loss of an eye through injury may be responsible for disobedience, quarrelsomeness, temper tantrums, truancy and cruelty. Crossed eyes produce an emotional as well as visual difficulty.

Youngsters who are nearsighted may engage too much in solitary activities not conducive to mental health. The farsighted youngsters may become lazy, inattentive, extroverted or mischievous in school.

Most visual defects in youngsters can be corrected by glasses. However, some may need other forms of treatment.

There are certain precautions which parents should take: Keep sharp instruments away from children; make sure toys are suitable for the child's age; supervise play as much as possible and teach a child never to rub his eyes with dirty hands.

Thus the problem becomes one of avoiding injury, identifying defects as early as possible and taking corrective measures. Awareness on the part of the parents that difficulties in school reflect some eye disorder is particularly important.

September has been labeled "Sight-Saving Month." During this month the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y., will distribute a small booklet entitled "A Word to the Wise" to parents who wish to watch for clues of possible eye defects in their children.

Westbrook Pegler Says:

Matty Busy as Kilroy

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SAN FRANCISCO—Vaguely it comes to mind that during the war, a weird, impalable gremlin flitted hither and yon and touched down in out of the way places to inscribe in chalk or paint, "Kilroy was here."

With fascinating persistency, even since the war, a redoubtable promoter of colossal projects with a knack for personal, though often flimsy, publicity has been touching the bases of high finance and speculation and leaving his gay challenge written in the skies — "Matty Fox was here."

Matty Fox has been in San Francisco of late, a great magnate of pay-TV, to hear his harbingers tell it, preparing to visualize the ballgames of the San Francisco Giants come next grass on a closed circuit arrangement with a box-office potential of billions. Well, if not billions, then hundreds of millions.

An official of the city of San Francisco with a legal and mathmatical mind sat in his office in the city hall a few days ago and agreed with Matty's advocates that the boy certainly goes for the chunk. In this instance two corporations are involved, both with the synthetic word "Skiatron" worked into their titles.

Matty Fox's layout is Skiatron Television, Inc., which made a bold reach for the exclusive rights to these games. The appropriate city department had just analyzed Mr. Fox's proposals and read up on his past performances in Hollywood; as social host to the high brass in London during the war when he was only a warrant officer, and his greatest cast to date, his American-Indonesian corporation.

Eugene Garey, a Wall Street lawyer, drew up the papers for that, and insisted that it was absolutely ethical, fine and good.

The late Johnny Burns of Boston, who also had an office in Wall Street, examined the contract which Garey had composed and wrote his considered opinion that it was a fantastic attempt by a small promoter to establish an equivalent of the stupendous East India Company which was the foundation of Queen Victoria's Indian empire.

Johnny Burns wrote: "It is fantastic to find in this supposedly enlightened age an arrangement so strongly reminiscent of the 16th Century when private companies were authorized under government charter to enjoy monopolistic privileges in colonial exploitation. Indonesia is obviously in a necessitous condition and may be excused for accepting a harsh bargain. The corporation is made the sole agent for the exportation to and the importation from the United States of all commodities. It is the sole agent for the negotiation of developments or financing by American interests."

The State Department got into the act, apparently in sympathy with Matty Fox of Hollywood, who had also marked time briefly with the Small War Plants Administration in the Washington Mazes. And in New York, after the war, Matty threw in with Major General Royal B. Lord, late of the Corps of Engineers, in a firm called the World-Wide Corporation. This association soon dissolved because, as General Lord said, Matty's ideas were too big for practical achievement.

During the Indonesian phase, Matty sat in Garey's office one day and the two recounted in pleasant, simple, folksy terms that Matty had fallen in with a small bunch of busted Indonesians in New York who were there to claim recognition by the United Nations as agents of the popular revolution against the imperial Dutch. These gentlemen, educated, genteel and patient, were in hock for their room-rent and in need of eating-bucks. Matty Fox underwrote their personal needs, but he said that day that he had put up $400,000 for these purposes but offered no documents in support.

In the current business in San Francisco, the office of the city controller says Mr. Fox has not yet fulfilled a promise to present certain data, including a balance sheet. The controller had put tracers on Matty to ascertain his past performances, but the conclusions drawn from their reports were not yet read for public disclosure.

Meanwhile, in New York, Horace Stoneham, the chief owner of the Giants, had been quoted to the effect that he had bought $1,000 worth of "Skiatron stock" but with no details as to price and terms.

A form of proposed franchise presented by Skiatron Television, Inc., had been examined with a microscope and the controller provided a sample copy of the text with certain changes written in pencil. These had been dictated by the city attorney and the finance committee of the board of supervisors had directed that they be made.

Where the proposed form had said the construction and installation of franchise property "in all other public places" should be subject to regulation by the board of supervisors, the committee now inserted the words "approval and ---." So this "construction and installation" now would require not only regulation subsequently but "approval" beforehand. The committee thought this a very important reservation.

By Matty's original form the franchise would have given his company for a period of 20 years the right to build, equip, maintain and operate in, on or under present and future "public places" all apparatus required for a closed-circuit TV system. The term "public places" included all the public parks, the council chamber, even the mayor's own office. So the importance of the word "approval" is even more emphatic.

But Matty can't be ruled off for trying.

His imagination is audacious and his gall the envy of all promoters. One of these days he will hit the payoff and the world will agree that Matty Fox was there.

Whats Right

If you are planning a Dutch treat evening, be sure to make that clear when you invite each couple. It is all right to invite others to go Dutch if you just don't leave the impression that you are giving the party.

However, a Dutch treat evening—even though you think it up and make the arrangements—does not repay hospitality.

If you are invited to a reception after a church wedding, take your time driving there. You want to let the bride and groom and their attendants and their families arrive before you do.

Thoughtful guests make sure the wedding party has time to get ready to greet the guests.

The United States purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917.

Church Wedding Fall Event

White, imported Chantilly lace over satin fashioned the chapel length gown worn by Elverta Marie Jacobs, as the bride of Sgt. Hiel Robert Ford. The early September wedding took place in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Dixon, with Rev. Paul Lechner officiating at the afternoon, double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Ford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Jacobs, Dixon, and the bridegroom's parents are deceased.

White galdioli and baby mums were used in decorating for the wedding. Mrs. Vance Hopper was nuptial organist and Mrs. Jack McCann, soloist. Both are of Dixon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress styled with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and long, tapered sleeves. The skirt had three gathered tiers and was worn over a hoop.

A lace and tulle band, embroidered in pearls, held the bride's fingertip, hand-rolled edge veil. Her cascade bouquet was of red roses and feathered white carnations with a detachable corsage of the roses. The flowers were carried on a white prayerbook, gift from the bridegroom. The bride also carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue and had a penny in her shoe.

Attend Bride

Miss Shirley Bohn, Dixon, was maid of honor for her cousin and Miss Louise Schaefer, Dixon, another cousin, bridesmaid. Miss Bohn was in coral and Miss Schaefer in lime green. Their dresses had strapless bodices and tiered, ruffled skirts and were worn with a draped stole. Braided crowns held their shoulder veils and they carried colonial bouquets of feathered carnations, the maid of honor having white and the bridesmaid, pink.

Ron Smith, White Rock, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man and Lloyd Gilbert, Dixon, another brother-in-law, was groomsman. Clarence Portner, Manlius, uncle of the bride, and Robert Reid, Stockton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, ushered.

As flower girl, Karla Quinn, Polo, cousin of the bride, wore a frock of yellow nylon. She had a headband of yellow feathered carnations. Benny Joe Gilbert, Dixon, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore navy blue cotton with fall white accessories. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert Reid, Stockton, acting as his mother, wore nylon print with matching accessories. The two women had white carnation corsages.

Reception

A reception followed in the church basement. Mrs. Lloyd Gilbert, Dixon, sister of the bridegroom, served the five-tiered wedding cake; Mrs. Albert Bohn, Dixon, aunt of the bride, poured coffee; Mrs. Robert Schmidt, Dixon, cousin of the bride, served punch; Mrs. Francis Carrington, Dixon, sister of the bride, had the guest book, and Miss Judy Knapp, Amboy, and Mrs. Maurice Swinton, Dixon, were in charge of the gifts. The Young Ladies Society of the church assisted in the kitchen.

For departing on a wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells, the bride donned navy blue cotton with red accessories.

"Bob", who attended Dixon Rural schools, has returned to Arlington, Va. where he is stationed with the U.S. Army.

For the present time, Elverta is residing with her parents, however, she will join her husband in the near future. A graduate of Amboy High School, she is employed by the J. C. Penney Co., Dixon.

Arrest

when young Crary arrived on his bicycle.

Sudden Decision

They conversed a while, Collins related, and threw rocks aimlessly about the grounds together before he suddenly decided to kidnap the boy. He said he grabbed Lee, clapped his hand over his mouth, took him to his car and then gagged him after placing him in the trunk.

He drove toward Everett, 15 miles to the north, permitting the youngster to sit with him part of the way. He drove to his home and for the next two days kept Lee in the car trunk most of the time.

Meanwhile, he said, he wrote the ransom note demanding $10,000 for Lee's return, addressing it to the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crary, posting it at Lynnwood early Thursday.

Moderate Income

He did not explain how he expected the Crarys, a family of moderate means, to obtain $10,000. Crary is an auto parts salesman.

Early Thursday he tied the boy with a belt to a tree in the woods near Lake Stevens, 25 miles west of Edmonds, and returned to Edmonds to see if the parents had followed instructions in the kidnap note. He had ordered them to post a sign saying "yes" in front of an Edmonds grocery.

While returning to Lake Stevens he saw newspaper headlines saying the boy had been found.

Informed Wife

His confession said his wife was informed of the kidnaping on Wednesday.

Lee's emotion-packed return to his modest home at Edmonds, a few miles north of Seattle, followed nearly three days of intensive searching by civilians and officials sometimes numbering as many as 600.

Shortly before noon yesterday, A. W. Armistead of Everett was driving down a road near Lake Stevens, 25 miles from Lee's home, when he saw the boy and a dog.

The boy held up his hands to stop the car and, as he and the stray dog jumped into Armistead's car, announced: "I'm Lee Crary, I'm the boy they are looking for."

At the time the boy was abducted he was taking 400,000 units of penicillin to ward off the effects of a recent attack of rheumatic fever. Although the boy did not receive the penicillin during the time he was missing he apparently suffered no ill effects.

A. N. Kennedy Chairman of Scout Drive

New chairman of the 1957 Dixon Boy Scout Campaign is Albert N. Kennedy. The appointment was announced today by Sauk District finance chairman, Ralph Davis, Sterling.

Kennedy has named the following group of assistants to help conduct the campaign which will begin Oct. 15: George M. Holland and James O. Hey, co-chairmen of special gifts committee; Arnold D. La Cour and John W. Selgestad, co-chairmen of the general solicitations committee; B. E. Sanderson, publicity chairman; Leo B. Miller, auditor.

Gov. William B. Stratton will head the Boy Scout Drive for the state of Illinois.

Chairman Kennedy, said "within the next five years, due to the unprecedented number of boys coming of age to enjoy the Scouting program, our Blackhawk Area Council anticipates increasing membership by 50 per cent.

"To give all boys who desire to be members the opportunity means that each community enjoying the Scouting program must contribute its share toward the Council budget.

"I am sure Dixon will respond to the appeal by generously supporting this fine organization."

The Sauk District, comprising the counties of Lee and Whiteside, is a part of the six county-wide Blackhawk Area Council serving more than 10,000 boys and 3,500 adult volunteer leaders with the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

tee voted Thursday night to eliminate the provision under which Beck would have assumed the emeritus title. The vote was variously reported as unanimous and as 15 to 2.

Beck would have been paid $50,000 a year and expenses but would not have drawn his $50,000 a year pension while serving in the emeritus post.

Beck said he had requested the committee to strike the emeritus provision.

Driver: Not Guilty, Then Guilty; Gets One Year, Then 90 Days

The defendant wanted a lawyer, but didn't want a lawyer. He pleaded not guilty, then guilty, although insisting he was not guilty. The judge said he felt 90 days would be sufficient, then sentenced the defendant to a year.

It was all quite confusing.

The record shows, after the smoke cleared away, that Lee County Judge Grover W. Gehant sentenced Fred Pieper, 67, 1902 First St., to 90 days at the state penal farm, Vandalia, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Pieper was arrested Wednesday night at First Street and Lincoln Avenue by Capt. Jack Van Meter and Officer Robert McCoy. They said a car driven west by Pieper nearly sideswiped their eastbound squad car.

Prison Mandatory

Pieper previously was convicted of drunk driving June 28, 1955. A guilty plea in this case carried a mandatory prison sentence.

Thursday Pieper asked for a continuance until this morning so that he could hire a lawyer to represent him.

This morning he told Gehant he had asked several lawyers, but had been refused. He said he wanted to plead not guilty.

"Do you want a jury?" Gehant asked, "or a hearing before this court?"

"Which one would be the best thing?" Pieper asked.

"Well," Gehant said, "that's not for me to tell you."

"I don't want to do anything until I talk to my lawyer," Pieper said.

"Do you have a lawyer?" Gehant asked.

"Yes," Pieper replied, and named a local attorney.

"Well why didn't you say so?" the judge wanted to know.

"Went My Bond"

"He said he can't represent me," Pieper replied, "because he went my bond." Pieper had been free on $1,000 bond.

Gehant asked Pieper if he would like to have Atty. Lloyd Scriven represent him. Pieper said he would, and Gehant telephoned Scriven.

After Scriven arrived, Pieper decided there was no need to spend the money to be represented by an attorney. However, he finally agreed to talk to Scriven.

After a conference, the two men came before the bench. Gehant asked Pieper if he were prepared to enter a plea.

"Not guilty," said Pieper.

"Wait a minute," interjected Scriven. "I thought you just told me you were going to plead guilty."

Defendant Explains

"I'm not guilty," Pieper explained to Gehant. "If he (Scriven) says that's the best thing I can do, then I'll plead guilty."

"Do you want to enter a plea of guilty?" Gehant asked.

"Yes," said Pieper.

Scriven told Gehant Pieper's health is not good, and asked for a minimum sentence of 90 days.

"If I sentence you to 90 days at Vandalia," Gehant said, "it should be sufficient, and there'll be a fine connected with this."

"So," he continued, "I sentence you to one year at the state work farm and fine you $100 and costs."

Pieper, Scriven and state's Attorney James E. Bales all wore bewildered looks. Finally, Mrs. Violet Landt, court reporter, walked over to Gehant and said:

"You mean 90 days."

"Yes," said the judge, unperturbed, "90 days at the state work farm and a fine of $100 and costs."

Faubus

on from a paratrooper, and another was cut with a bayonet when he failed to leave the school area.

"In the name of God, whom we all revere, in the name of liberty we hold so dear, in the name of decency, which we all cherish, what is happening in America?" Faubus asked.

"Is every right reserved to the states by the federal Constitution now lost?

Will of Majority

"Must the will of the majority now yield, under federal force, to the will of the minority regardless of the consequences?"

The governor said "literally swarms" of federal agents have been operating in Little Rock.

"To those who know the facts of the Little Rock situation, these combined actions on the part of the judicial, executive and military departments of the federal government are 'police state' methods in a form never before seen in America," he said.

Urged Calmness

At several points Faubus urged calmness and expressed resignation.

In a talk with newsmen after the speech, the governor said "tremendous pressure" is being exerted on him to call an emergency session of the Legislature.

Asked if he thought he would yield to this pressure, he replied: "Not yet."

Two Steps

He said such a special session if called could take two steps:

1. Abolish the school system, an action some states have proposed in the belief that private schools would be outside federal integration rulings, or

2. Withhold state aid from districts which integrate.

The governor said abolishing public schools was a "drastic step which I do not favor."

centage figures set up by the federal government.

Several thousand cases of the disease have according to the Health Department, been reported so far this fall. These include 1,622 cases in Champaign County, 1,000 at Oak Park High School in Cook County and 260 in DuPage County. Not all have been identified as Asian flu cases.

Dr. Rose said the disease would be considered as of epidemic proportions if between 10 to 15 per cent of the state's population is stricken.

A total of $164,896 in series E and H U.S. savings bonds was purchased by Lee County residents in August, according to a report received from the savings bonds division of the Treasury Department by W. H. McMaster, volunteer savings bonds county chairman.

Illinois sales for the month represented 9.1 per cent of all sales of E and H bonds in the nation. The sales were 8.7 per cent below sales for August of 1956.

Sales of series E bonds totaled $94,396 and series H $70,500, making the $164,896 total.

ineligible to run for office except Scott and themselves. He said he was elected to an office in the local, but did not say which office.

Rigged Election

"So, in fact it was a rigged election?" Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked him.

"So, in fact, I would say it was," the witness responded.

Scott said he was an official of the CIO, fighting efforts of the teamsters to organize grocery stores in Michigan, at the time his wife received the allegedly threatening telephone calls.

Telephone Calls

"My first wife passed away," he said. "She constantly received telephone calls that I was either bumped off or laying in a gutter some place."

He said she was so crippled with arthritis that she often fell and hurt herself while attempting to reach a telephone to call him and check on the telephone calls.

"Did they (the phone calls) hasten her death?" Kennedy asked him.

"Well," Scott said, "I would say they did, and so did the doctor. She died in 1946."

Originally the committee had considered questioning Hoffa at a Saturday session. But it agreed Thursday to the request of George Fitzgerald, Hoffa's counsel, that questioning of Hoffa be put off until after wiretapping and perjury indictments against him are disposed of in New York courts.

The committee granted a similar request by Fitzgerald Thursday on behalf of Benjamin Franklin (Frank) Collins, secretary-treasurer of Hoffa's Detroit Local 299. Collins also was indicted in the New York perjury case growing out of the wiretapping investigation.

It refused, however, to put off questioning of Owen (Bert) Brennan, president of Detroit Teamsters Local 377, and close associate of Hoffa. In doing so Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) ruled that Brennan would not be asked any questions relating to his part in the New York wiretapping charges.

Preparation of a citation for contempt was ordered by McClellan for Eugene C. (Jimmy) James of Wheaton, Ill., former head of the Teamsters' jukebox local in Detroit. James refused to answer any questions about his relations with Hoffa.

Kennedy said the committee has information that Hoffa set James up as head of the jukebox local in 1947 and that James put Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Brennan on his payroll at $100 a week although they did no work for the local.

Change Opinion On Litigants

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — No one collected damages and a judge and jury lost a lot of sleep considering two suits in a Macon County Circuit Court.

The jury came up with four verdicts before dawn Thursday on cross-filed suits by Joseph L. Adams and Carl Hughes, both of Decatur.

Adams asked $25,000 for injuries he said he suffered in a collision of his auto and a truck driven by Hughes. Hughes asked $10,000 for injuries claimed in the same crash. The suits charged negligence.

At first, the jury found both men guilty of negligence and awarded damages to neither. Judge Martin E. Morthland handed down more instructions and ordered the jury to retire again.

The jury then ruled both men innocent and again withheld damages.

The traffic crash occurred five years ago.

Five Illinois Guard Units to Be Scrapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Air Force Reserve units and one Air National Guard squadron in Illinois have been ordered scrapped by the Air Force.

They are among some 25 wings and 13 squadrons ordered dropped Thursday to streamline the reserve and to save men and money. The action involves some 3,980 officers and enlisted men and will be completed within 90 days, the Air Force said.

The Illinois units are: At Chicago's O'Hare Air Station, the 437th Troop Carrier Wing Headquarters and the 84th Troop Carrier Squadron, both reserve units, and the 168th Fighter Interceptor Squadron of the Air National Guard.

At Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Ill., the 94th Troop Carrier Wing Headquarters and the 732nd Troop Carrier Squadron of the reserve.

The Air Force said most of the men in the scrapped units are expected to continue training with other nearby units.

No aircraft are involved in the move.

Marriage to millionaire Edward (Daddy) Browning in 1926 put the 15-year-old Peaches in headlines across the nation. She died in August 1956 in New York.

14 Fliers Die In Maneuvers

ABOARD CARRIER FORRESTAL (AP) — Three airmen perished Thursday in the crash of their heavy Navy jet bomber, bringing to 14 the number killed in 48 hours of NATO maneuvers.

An A3D Skywarrior came in too low for an attempted landing on this carrier, ripped off the landing gear, skidded the length of the flight deck and burst into flames before hitting the water.

Ten fliers were killed Wednesday in two aerial collisions. One man was killed and four injured the same day when an antisubmarine helicopter crashed while landing on the carrier Leyte.

Among those killed Thursday was Lt. (jg) Joseph Raymond Juricic, USNR, pilot, husband of Kathleen Ann Juricic of Chicago, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Juricic of 408 Raynor, Joliet, Ill.

Dukes Face Sterling; Illinois Plays UCLA

Hope to End SHS' Chain Of Victories

Sereg to Help With Kicks; Frosh-Soph Teams Open Action

The 1957 version of the Dixon High School varsity football Dukes will attempt a feat tonight that their predecessors have been unable to accomplish in the past 13 years — beat the Golden Warriors of Sterling High School. The traditional battle royale is slated for 8 p.m., following a 6:15 p.m. frosh-soph encounter, at Sterling Stadium.

Duke coach Bob Cunz has announced that he will string along with the same offensive lineup which opened against — and defeated — Freeport's Pretzels last week.

The Dukes will have Doug Bybee and Bill Guthrie at the ends, co-captains Gene Kellar and George Adams at tackles, Tom Grove and Jim Salzman at guards and Roger Trotter at the center berth.

In the backfield, Dave Adler will open at quarterback, with Dave Shank and Chico Contreras at halfbacks and Chuck Brainerd at fullback. Brainerd is the team's leading ground-gainer with a 5.5 average. He gained 211 yards on 38 carries in two games. Shank has gained 92 yards thus far and has a highly respectable 34.8 punting average.

Kickoff Help

Cunz also announced last night that reserve end Paul Sereg would be in line for kickoff duties with Brainerd. Sereg was a "find" in the weeklong drills for this game and has consistently booted the football 50 or more yards each try.

Injuries and the flu have necessitated some changes in the Warrior lineup — plus the fact that Bob McMurry, in his first year as Sterling head grid coach, has been dissatisfied to date and has done a high degree of experimenting.

The Warriors are expected to start four sophomores in this evening's contest — linemen Abel Taualii, Gordon Summers and Jim Loos and backfield man Jim Tarner.

Taualli will fill in at left tackle, replacing Larry Longanecker who is nursing a leg injury. Summers played the final quarter of the Rock Falls game in a backfield position and McMurry, happy with his blocking ability, has shifted him to first string guard.

Loos has been a regular to date, while Tarner has been shifted from fullback to blocking back in the Warriors' offensive attack.

Shift Koehler

Chuck Koehler, senior veteran, has been shifted from quarterback to the left end post, opposite Ken Taualli who alternated in the backfield last week. Co-captain Dave Lockhart will be at the other tackle with either Henry Heckman or Les Johnson at the other guard.

Sterling has been cheered by the return of backfield star and letterman Larry Lenhart at one halfback slot. Lenhart, team co-captain and speed merchant, suffered a head cut when his helmet cracked in the opening game against Newman. The laceration required seven stitches. Elsewhere in the backfield, Jim Brauer has assumed the quarterback role with veteran Warren Handel at fullback.

Duke frosh-soph coach Lloyd Swan has announced no lineup changes for his team's game with the Sterling Braves.

Seven Skippers Await '58 Pacts

Cleveland's Kerby Farrell Is Only Doubtful Repeater

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Seven skippers still are waiting for 1958 contracts, but only Cleveland's Kerby Farrell appears to be a doubtful repeater among major league managers, whose ranks haven't remained intact from the end of one season to the next since 1944-45.

The others who haven't signed for next season — but who range from cold cinches to good bets — are Fred Haney of the National League champion Milwaukee Braves, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals, Walt Alston of the Brooklyn (Los Angeles?) Dodgers, Bill Rigney of the New York-San Francisco Giants, Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs and Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics.

All but Farrell have received votes of confidence in one form or another — which seems a bum rap for Kerby, who started the season as one of three rookie managers and now has seniority over three.

He faced the task of battling the New York Yankees for the American League pennant when he replaced the resigned Al Lopez, and the job plunged from the improbable to the impossible when injuries riddled his pitching staff —the Indians' only trump card.

Without Herb Score, and with Early Wynn and Bob Lemon ailing, the Injuns skidded from six consecutive years of 1-2 finishes to their worst season since 1946.

Thursday night's 2-1 victory at Kansas City kept alive Cleveland hopes of a possible share of fourth place with Detroit, or of beating Baltimore out of fifth.

General Manager Hank Greenberg has declined comment on his plans for Cleveland's 1958 field boss.

Lopez, who never has finished worse than second as a manager, signed for 1958 Thursday, as did Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phils.

35½ Seconds

Lopez and the White Sox brass conferred "just about 35½ seconds" before the genial Al, who requested only a one-year contract, signed for a reported $30,000.

Smith, who surprised just about everybody by keeping the Phils no worse than fifth and startled the NL by contending for the pennant, also signed a one-year pact. It called for a raise over this season's reported $18,000 salary.

Of the others who haven't signed, Haney is guaranteed a return with a pennant in his first full year with the Braves.

If there is any problem between the Cardinals and Hutchinson, it could be over President August Busch's new rule banning more than one-year contracts.

Alston, although the Dodgers fell to a far third after two pennant years, has been cleared of any fault by the Brook brass.

Rigney, finishing a two-year pact, fell short of his own hopes with a sixth-place finish, but has been touted for Manager of the Year honors in some spots around the league. The Cubs apparently are satisfied with Scheffing.

Craft has been close to .500 with the seventh-place A's since replacing Lou Boudreau Aug. 6 and figures to be back for '58 — along with Cookie Lavagetto of the Washington Senators and Danny Murtaugh of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who also took over in midstream. Lavagetto and Murtaugh already have signed.

Jack Tighe, who replaced the "resigned" Bucky Harris as Detroit skipper last October, also will be back next year. The Tigers, with Thursday's 3-2 victory at Chicago, are within one victory of a first division berth in the AL for the first time since 1950.

The other managers will be back under long-term agreements. Casey Stengel, headed for his eighth World Series with the Yankees, is half way through a two-year contract (at $75,000 per). Boston's Pinky Higgins signed a three-year contract as a reward for 1955's manager of the year award. Baltimore's Paul Richards is signed through 1959, and Birdie Tebbets has two to go in a three-year pact with the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Bobby Lane To Engage Giardello

CLEVELAND (AP)—With little to gain and much to lose in his pursuit of a crack at the middleweight title, Joey Giardello of Brooklyn takes on Bobby Lane of Miami in a 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena tonight.

Joey, ranked by Ring Magazine Thursday as 5th among contenders for Carmen Basilio's newly won crown, is a 9-5 favorite over the unranked, 23-year-old Floridian. A notch ahead of Giardello, in fourth, is Rory Calhoun whom Joey beat here in a split decision earlier this year.

A setback at the hands of tonight's opponent, who has the edge in youth and reach, would wipe out for Giardello most of the gain in rank he has made since a year ago this week when he smashed Bobby Boyd to the canvas of the arena here, breaking the Chicagoan's jaw.

This is the first bout Lane has had with a top-notcher. His record is 23 victories, 13 by knockouts, eight losses and a draw. He has won his last 10, and flattened six of his last seven opponents.

Giardello, four years older, has more than twice that experience, and against some of the best. His record is 63 victories, 23 by kayos, 13 defeats and four draws.

The bout will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC at 9 p.m. CDT).

Rolling Out the Crystal Again . . .

HOOPLE-KNIGHT GOAL—Rolling out the old crystal for another week's activity, Hoople (Major Amos B.) and the Knight set their sights on 20 winners this week. Here are the forecasts for a 25-game weekend schedule (your prognosticating pair batting an anemic .597 to date):

Dixon over Sterling—This is the year, it says here. Dukes unafraid of Warriors and bound to break streak. Dixon defense key to outcome.

OTTAWA OVER MENDOTA — Pirates first in line this week to play "Tromp the Trojans." Everyone else is doing it.

Rock Falls over Geneseo — Rocket power on way to clear division title. Leafs won't stop drive.

POLO OVER MT. MORRIS — Polo won title by beating Mounders in final game of 1956. Should start title drive again in '57 opener.

Amboy over DeWitt — Limb of the Week. Look for Clippers to bounce back after last week's Illowa loss to Newman.

OHIO OVER PAW PAW—Both are winless to date this year but look for Ohio grid-savvy to pay off in "Battle of Bulldogs."

Byron over Franklin Center—Game should be closer than it looks at first glance. Eagles could be a big threat if they can get their offense rolling. Spread of one TD.

FORRESTON OVER LEAF RIVER—Cardinals should find foes to be just another stepping block in drive to Route 72 crown.

Oregon over Milledgeville—Hawks have two straight wins under belt and will make it three over up-and-down Millies who looked good in first game, poor in second.

OTHER PICKS—DeKalb over Hall, Princeton over Rochelle, Mt. Carroll over Lanark, Morrison over St. Mary's, Fulton over Bettendorf, Newman over Savanna, Manlius over Buda, Tiskilwa over Neponset, Sheffield over Wyanet, LaMoille over Malden, Wethersfield over Walnut, Galva over Princeville, Toulon over Elmwood, Wyoming over Bradford, Pecatonica over Ashton, Stillman over Winnebago.

Illini Open Campaign Under Lights

Two Teams Expected To Wage Passing Duel in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—West Coast-Big Ten football hostilities of 1957 open here tonight between underdog UCLA and Illinois. Prospects are good for a passing duel between the Illini's sensational sophomore quarterback, Bob Hickey, and one of a trio of Bruin throwers.

UCLA, in three engagements, including a Rose Bowl debacle in 1947, has never beaten Illinois, and the chances are remote that the Pacific Coast conference team will break the string this time.

Kickoff is set for 8:15 p.m. (PDT). A crowd of 50,000 is expected.

Neither Powerful

Neither team, coached by the deans of the two conferences, Ray Eliot of Illinois and Red Sanders of UCLA, is rated a power in its own league.

UCLA has some advantage in having one game under its belt, but this was against a yet to mature Air Force Academy outfit. UCLA won 47-0.

The Illini, however, can field a squad that boasts 16 seniors, 5 on the first string.

UCLA has no seniors, due to disciplinary action by the PCC.

Sanders' single wing starters include Don Long at the left halfback position and ready to step in when needed are two others who are bidding for the starting job, kicking specialist Kirk Wilson and Chuck Kendall.

Illinois' Hickey, a 19-year-old Chicago lad who stands 6 feet or better, propelled himself from the substitute ranks when he tossed five touchdown passes and scored once himself in last Saturday's intra-squad scrimmage.

Reports say Hickey may be the best quarterback Illinois has had in many years.

Rounding out the Illinois starting backfield will be halfbacks Bob Mitchell and Dale Smith and fullback Ray Nitschke.

The UCLA backfield lists Steve Gertsman at quarter, Phil Parslow at right half, Barry Billington at fullback and Long.

The game will be the second under lights in the Illini history.

So. Central Wins, 7-2

South Central captured its first Dixon Grade School league heavyweight flag football game of the season yesterday as it scored a 7-2 decision over Washington with Everett Tucker supplying all the points for the winning eleven.

Tucker sprinted 60 yards for South Central's touchdown midway in the second period, then added the extra point. The losers' Dave Grobe provided two points for his squad when he stopped a South Central back in the end zone for a safety.

In the standings, Lincoln leads with 1-0 and hosts St. Mary's at 4 p.m. today. South Central is next with 1-1, followed by St. Mary's with 0-0-1 and Washington with 0-1-1. Early action in the league saw a 12-0 Lincoln win over South Central, with Washington and St. Mary's playing to a 6-6 tie.

In the PeeWee division, St. Mary's has a 1-0 mark with a 7-0 victory over Washington, while Lincoln and South Central each have 0-0-1 marks, having played a scoreless tie.

Seek 10-Team Realignment in National Loop

SEATTLE (AP)—Walter O'Malley, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and other National League team owners are giving serious thought to inclusion of this city of 600,000 in a new, 10-team realignment of the loop, a Seattle financier said today.

J. Elroy McCaw, the owner of a string of radio stations and other interests on the Pacific Coast, including the Seattle Americans of the Western Hockey League, said he had conversed and corresponded with O'Malley on the proposed move.

"Both O'Malley and Horace Stoneham (owner of the New York Giants) told me the league is much interested in Seattle," McCaw said. "They both say the time to make a move is now.

"Both men are anxious for at least one more city on the coast."

Explaining, McCaw said the one more city would be Seattle, after the Giants move to San Francisco and if the Dodgers make their proposed move to Los Angeles.

McCaw quoted O'Malley as saying the National League, expanded to nine teams with the addition of Seattle, would be increased to a 10-team loop by bringing in Minneapolis.

Big Ten Squads Named Favorites

Four Intersectional Contests Spice First Weekend's Card

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten football teams are favored right down the line in a season-opening schedule which is spiced with four games against Pacific Coast Conference rivals.

Of prime importance in the opening round is the only conference clash, sending Indiana to Michigan State Saturday before a crowd of 55,000.

The well-stocked Spartans rate as much as a 26-point choice as they start the campaign as a top favorite for the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl trip.

The Hoosiers, their head coach, Phil Dickens, sitting out a suspension for over-enthusiastic recruiting, will present the only real new mode of attack in the conference.

Side-Saddle

It is the "side saddle T" which places the quarterback on offense behind the center but facing the left sidelines rather than the opposing line. The alignment, used by Dickens and his staff at Wyoming with fine results, has a reputation for speed, power and deceptiveness.

Illinois gets a jump on the rest of the league by meeting UCLA in Los Angeles tonight. The Illini are expected to take the wraps off a dazzling sophomore battery of passer Bob Hickey and end Rich Kreitling to implement their strong running backs.

Two first team linemen for UCLA, end Jim Steffen and guard Joe Harper, have been declared out of the game because of injuries. Illinois rates near a one touchdown favorite over the razzle-dazzle Bruins.

Rounding out Saturday's slate are Michigan at Southern California, Washington at Minnesota, Northwestern at Stanford for a nationally televised attraction, Texas Christian at Ohio State, Notre Dame at Purdue, Utah State at Iowa and Marquette at Wisconsin.

With a veteran starting lineup, Michigan should not have too much trouble with the Trojans and is favored by 14 points. Washington, once the school of Minnesota's crack split T quarterback, Bobby Cox, fought to a 6-6 stalemate with Colorado last week but figures a 13-point underdog before 61,000 fans at Minneapolis.

Edge Over Stanford

Northwestern, with rookie passers John Talley and Chip Holcomb supplementing the fancy work of little Bob McKeiver and speedy Wilmer Fowler, should have a slight edge over Stanford. Ohio State will open before 80,000 home customers and with a better blended aerial-running attack is a 13 point choice over the TCU Horned Frogs, who made their start a week ago in a 13-13 deadlock with Kansas.

Probably the most important opener is Notre Dame's test at Purdue with Irish coach Terry Brennan hoping for a fast season start that will help rub out memories of a 2-8 campaign last year. Purdue, although without passing star Len Dawson, is a slight choice.

Iowa figures by four touchdowns over Utah State and Wisconsin by three over Marquette.

Outfield Analysis Of Series Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves have the power. The New York Yankees have the speed and a better defense.

That is a brief summation of the relative outfield strength of the 1957 World Series participants.

Closer inspection of the situation, however, reveals, that the outcome of the championship games may depend on the performances of three outfielders.

The tide will swing to the Yanks if Mickey Mantle can recover sufficiently from his leg injuries to handle the bulk of his team's long ball hitting and do a capable job in centerfield.

Could Swing

Or the pendulum could swing to the Braves if:

1. Bob Hazle, a .408 batter in 39 games, finds Yankee ptichers as easy to hit as those in the National League.

2. Hank Aaron, the major league leader in home runs and runs batted in, delivers the same timely blows he did so often during the regular season.

The outfielders are by no means set for the grand opening next Wednesday. With lefthanders Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford figured to pitch the first game, Milwaukee will go with Wes Covington in left field, Aaron in center and Andy Pafko in right. Casey Stengel's nominees probably will be Elston Howard in left, Mantle in center and Hank Bauer in right.

Hazle will replace Pafko against righthanders. And Tony Kubek or Enos Slaughter will take over from Howard when Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl pitch for the Braves.

Now for a brief look at the statistics:

Aaron, with 44 homers, Covington, with 21 and Hazle with 7, give the Milwaukee outfielders a total of 72 circuit blows. Among the Yank outfielders who figure to see the most action, Mantle has 34, Bauer 18 and Kubek 3 for an aggregate of 55. Pafko has hit 7, Howard 8 and Slaughter 5.

Top Average

Except for Hazle, Mantle's .365 batting average is the highest on both outfield squads. Aaron is next with .325. Kubek is at .295, Bauer at .259, Howard .257 and Slaughter .254. Covington shows a .289 mark and Pafko .280.

An outfield of Bauer, Kubek and a healthy Mantle will give the American League pennant winners a decided edge in speed on the bases and in the field.

Defensively, Hazle's ability leaves much to be desired. Covington is rated just an average fielder.

Crusaders Seek Fifth Title in Row

Open CCI Schedule Against Elmhurst; Millikin at Home

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheaton opens its campaign for a fifth straight College Conference of Illinois football title Saturday as league competition starts in earnest.

The Crusaders make their start at Elmhurst, whose Bluejays are rated much improved over last year. Elmhurst won its warmup last week with a 20-0 victory over Concordia of River Forest while Wheaton was crushing Northern Illinois 25-7.

Carroll is at Millikin and Illinois Wesleyan at Lake Forest in other CCI encounters. North Central, with two non-league triumphs, had to call off its game with Augustana because 20 players were stricken with the flu. The game has been scheduled for the end of the season, probably on Nov. 23.

Contenders Battle

A battle of contenders shapes up at Millikin where the Big Blue have their pint-sized quarterback, Larry Kane, back for his senior year.

In non-league tuneups, Lake Forest has lost to Beloit 20-0, Millikin was defeated by Missouri Valley 19-6, Illinois Wesleyan was dropped 26-6 by DePauw and Carroll lost 33-12 to St. Norbert.

Only one Interstate Conference game is on tap with Illinois Normal invading Eastern Michigan Friday night. The other members continue with non-conference action Saturday with Hillsdale at Central Michigan, Southeast Missouri at Eastern Illinois, Arkansas State at Southern Illinois (night) and Northern Illinois at Beloit.

Southern Unbeaten

In non-league play, only Southern, with a 25-12 victory over Austin Peay, and Illinois Normal, with a 14-12 decision over Ball State, remain unbeaten in the IIAC. Defending champion Central Michigan has been defeated by Bradley 14-7 and by Western Michigan 33-0.

Bradley downed Western Illinois 19-13 Thursday night with Roger Hansen scoring on runs of 15 and 91 yards. One of Western's big stars was freshman halfback Willie Spates of Elgin who bolted 61 yards for a touchdown.

In Midwest Conference competition, Carleton is at Monmouth and Cornell at Knox Saturday. Monmouth was shattered 34-0 by Ripon last week and Knox was defeated 26-14 by Carleton.

Choose Franklin Girl 'Student Nurse of Year'

JACKSONVILLE, Ill.—(Special) — A Franklin Grove girl has been selected as student nurse of the year for district 9.

Miss Virginia Burkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burkey, rural route, Franklin Grove, was selected Saturday at the first meeting of the ninth district held in Jacksonville. She is attending Passavant Memorial Hospital School of Nursing here.

She was the judges choice over three other candidates. Students were selected by their home school of nursing as representatives. Judges based selection on the qualifications of each student in practices, theory, personality and social activities.

Each student also submitted a theme, "What Nursing Means To Me," and was then interviewed by the judges. Miss Burkey will now represent the district at the state meeting to be held in Chicago. Nine other candidates will compete. Winner will receive a $100 scholarship.

Due to the rapid movement of people from one community to another, it is impossible for a pastor to have correct information relative to the community in any other way, according to Wenger.

Give Provisions Of 30-Acre Feed Wheat Exemption

Some of the general provisions of the recently enacted 30-acre feed wheat exemption law were set forth today by Frank W. Scholl, Lee county ASC office.

This legislation permits farmers to grow up to 30 acres of wheat without penalty provided all of it is used for feed, seed, or human consumption on the farm where it is produced. The new provision applies only to 1958 and future crops.

To be eligible to grow 30 acres without penalty, producers must file an application with the county committee prior to seeding time on the farm or by Oct. 15, 1957, whichever is later. Although application blanks are not presently available, they are expected in the near future, Scholl said.

Producers participating in the program will be required to file future reports on the use of the wheat so grown. An application may be canceled by the producer at any time, but in this event marketing quota program provisions will then apply to any wheat produced on the farm.

Under the feed wheat exemption provision no more than 30 acres of wheat may be grown on the farm. None of the crop may be sold, bartered, or exchanged. The entire crop of wheat must be used on the farm where it is produced. Any livestock or poultry fed must be owned by the producer and it will not be permissible to remove any wheat to another farm for any purpose.

No marketing card will be issued for farms covered by the feed wheat exemption provision since none of the wheat from such farms may be sold. If the conditions on which the exemption is granted are violated, the exemption becomes null and void and the producer will be subject to penalties under wheat marketing quota regulations.

Any producer who signs up for the 1958 wheat acreage reserve program will not be eligible to use the 30-acre feed wheat provision unless he cancels his wheat acreage reserve agreement prior to the closing date for cancellation of wheat acreage reserve agreements.

Program provisions permitting producers to market 15 acres or less of wheat without penalty regardless of the size of the allotment will only apply to producers on farms which are not participating in the feed wheat exemption provisions.

Under the wheat program for 1958 farmers now have the following options:

1. Up to 30 acres may be grown on a farm provided all of the wheat produced is properly used on that farm. Written request must be filed with ASC office.

2. The allotment acreage (if any) may be grown on the farm with price support available on the wheat produced.

3. Part or all of the allotment may be placed in the 1958 Wheat Acreage Reserve, in which case the farmer can raise no more than the allotment minus the acreage placed in the reserve.

4. If there is no allotment on the farm or it is small, up to 15 acres of wheat may be grown without penalty and placed on the market without price support.

Negro Youths Attack Whites In High School

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Six teenage Negro boys charged with an unprovoked assaut on white students at predominantly Negro Elmhurst Junior High School were held in Juvenile Hall today.

The six were identified as participants in three clashes, said Patrolman Robert Calvert.

Seven other Negro youth were arrested but released to their parents.

Nashville School Attendance Near Normal Status

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Attendance at the five integrated grammar schools here has returned "practically to normal," Asst. Supt. W. H. Oliver says.

"As far as we know, only seven children in the whole system are being kept home because of desegregation," he added. "We expect that they will return to class soon."

Ten Negro students are now enrolled in previously all-white elementary schools here.

Integration Changing the Scene for Future Election

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever may happen next in Little Rock, or elsewhere in the South, the 1958 and 1960 elections will be held.

That's one prediction it seems safe to make in the troubled integration picture. Whatever else happens, politics will go on as usual.

The campaigns will be complicated, of course, by the whole civil rights situation, by the Little Rock disorders and President Eisenhower's calling out federal troops, in particular.

Politicians and those who try to keep tabs on the politicians were busy assessing the portents by the time the first paratrooper piled out of a plane in Arkansas.

A variety of their predictions has got into print.

Republicans sound the more optimistic, for two main reasons:

1. They think they'll pick up great numbers of northern Negro votes as a result of the President's decisive action in calling out troops at Little Rock. This comes as a great relief to them. They'd been afraid previously that Negroes would think Eisenhower was dithering when he should have been acting to enforce the antisegregation decrees.

2. GOP strategists think, or at least hope, the Democratic party has blown apart again along its North-South seam. Some Democrats concede they may be right. Some—like Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) — say it's just as well. "It would mean getting the Dixiecrats out of the party," says Douglas. Others, like Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex), lament the possible loss of a single vote. Johnson could hardly be expected to welcome a collapse of the North-South truce. He would need a united party if he hoped to get the party's presidential nomination.

Democrats see possible advantages to themselves growing out of the integration fight:

1. They don't see how a Republican presidential candidate could carry a single Southern state after a Republican president called out the "Feds." Eisenhower cracked the "Solid" South in 1952 and 1956, and Democrat Harry Truman lost part of it in 1948. The Democratic argument is that Dixie is safe from the Republicans for the next few years even though a new states rights party should arise and threaten to take some states from the Democrats.

2. Democratic planners wonder if the Republicans didn't lose a pile of votes in the North, as well as in the South, through the President's use of federal troops. They figure a good many white Northerners are against integration and resent the President's action. How the Democrats can appeal to this group, while coming up with a civil rights stand which will attract Negroes, is one of many problems to be ironed out at the party's 1960 convention.

It may be noteworthy that leaders of neither party are making any great claims at this point.

For one thing, they don't want to be accused of capitalizing on a tragic situation even though, in the long run, they may hope to do exactly that.

For another, political planners —especially since the Truman upset of 1948—tend to be more cautious than they used to be. Today's advantage has a way of turning into tomorrow's liability. Nobody knows what turn the situation in the South may take. Nobody knows what problems—inflation? The international situation? —may arise to become the No. 1 issue in the minds of most voters.

Nobody knows, either, who the candidates will be. And this, as often before, could prove more important than segregation or any other issue.

Traffic Threat

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A city court judge here Wednesday sentenced 61-year-old William Jones to 30 days in jail, suspended, plus a $100 fine and court costs for operating a mule and wagon on a Raleigh road while intoxicated.

Colp School Dispute Bogs Down in Court

COLP, Ill. (AP) — A ruling on a case resulting from a school integration dispute in this Southern Illinois town of 450 cannot be made until February, Circuit Judge Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale said Thursday.

The judge said the petitions in the case were not prepared in time and a full docket is in prospect for the present court session at Marion.

Last summer the Colp School Board voted along racial lines, 4-3, to consolidate the community's two grade schools, using a previously all-Negro school building for pupils of both schools.

On July 8 the Williamson County School Board granted a petition permitting white pupils in the Colp district to be taken into the neighboring Carterville grade school district where no Negroes are enrolled.

Then a suit asking that the ruling by the county be set aside was filed by a group of Negroes in Circuit Court July 26.

This is the issue on which a ruling is awaited.

Forty white pupils from Colp have enrolled in Carterville schools this month, while 53 Negro children and no whites are attending the Colp school.

Colp students of high school age, both Negroes and whites, are attending an integrated consolidated high school at nearby Herrin.

The Evidence

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Man's best friend?

Broome County sheriff's deputies, investigating reports of game birds being shot out of season, met Kegham Kradjian, 53, coming through a hedgerow in nearby Vestal.

Behind Kradjian trailed his faithful hunting dog, carrying a dead pheasant in his mouth.

Kradjian paid $75 fine.
